G&S

I.T. & COMMUNICATIONS

Trusted help to solve all your computer problems

In today's competitive business world, reliable computer systems are essential. You need systems designed to deliver maximum efficiency in every facet of operation.

G&S I.T. and Communications doesn't just fix computers. We partner with our clients to deliver and maintain comprehensive, integrated technology solutions.

We offer you a complete solution, tailored to your business size, needs, and budget.

Years of experience in software development positions us to recommend the best software, customise software solutions, install correctly, and diagnose and remedy those annoying compatibility issues.

We can help with all your computing, networking, communications, and cabling needs.

We supply top quality computers, servers, peripherals, and accessories. We install, configure, and maintain.

We offer quick response, on-site repair services, and low cost maintenance contracts to insure against expensive down-time resulting from system failures.

Our skilled technicians enjoy a challenge! We can solve the thorniest of problems. Thorough training and extensive experience has taught us to dig deep to identify the root causes of malfunctions or inefficiency. We look for early warning signs, addressing problems before they result in system failure.

Naturally, all our work is fully guaranteed.

G&S is proud of the fact that most of our new business comes from word of mouth referrals from customers who appreciate our personalised service, attention to detail, and absolute dependability.

So... set yourself free to concentrate on business, with the security of knowing your computing systems won't let you down.
